LET’S TALK ABOUT

INDUSTRY TRENDS IN AGRICULTURE

WITH

TechAccel

April 25, 2019, 12:00 - 1:00 PM
ENR2, Room S225

TechAccel is a for-profit technology and venture development organization that invests in early-stage discoveries and technologies in plant and animal agriculture, animal health and nutrition, and related areas including food safety and quality, and crop processing.

Join us for lunch with Drs. Candace Seeve and Brad Fabbri of TechAccel where we’ll discuss the current state of the industry and opportunities to bring impactful research to bear on real-world problems.

Topics will include:

• Today’s industry areas of focus
• Identifying and de-risking technologies
• Licensing and startup formation
• Available funding opportunities to advance inventions

Come, share lunch and get your questions answered.

This event is specifically for faculty, researchers, graduate students and staff.

REGISTER NOW to reserve your seat and have lunch provided.

Contact for questions:
Ellen Ogley, 520-621-7262,
elleno@tla.arizona.edu

Do you have an invention that could help others? Let’s talk!
http://techlaunch.arizona.edu/inventors/technology-licensing-team